FRIDAY 8 JUNE

FRI1 - Hartham Grounds and Weavert Wonders

6 miles. Moderate. 4 hrs duration. 13:15 from Springfield Community Campus. £5 includes donation to the charity Asthma UK.

By kind permission of Hartham Park, the walk offers a unique opportunity to see the external grounds of this historic country estate, not normally open to the public. We approach along the 1760's old Brickers Barn Turnpike Road for a guided tour of Hartham Park grounds. The 18th century Georgian mansion has 50 acres of gardens and parkland, landscaped by Harold Peto, and one of only three functional stické tennis courts in the world (the other two are at Knightshayes Court, Tiverton, Devon and the former Viceroy of India's summer palace in Simla, India).

Whilst under the ownership of Baron Islington, Winston Churchill was a frequent visitor to Hartham. Later, during World War II the upper floors of the house were used as dormitories for the WAAF serving with RAF No 10 Group based at Rudloe Manor. Hartham Park has been redeveloped into a prestigious business park and café.

Church Farm has allowed the walk to pass through their fields to Weavert before ascending via beautiful lush old woodland towards Rudloe Manor and Corsham.

Dogs are not permitted in Hartham Park grounds.

Access to external grounds by kind permission of Hartham Park - www.harthampark.com

Access to farm paths by kind permission of Church Farm B&B - www.churchfarmbandb.com

FRI2 – Scenic vistas from Box to Monkton Farleigh

7 miles. Moderate. 4 hrs duration. 13:30 from Selwyn Hall Car Park (free), Valens Terrace, Box, SN13 8NT. GR ST824686. £4.

This circular walk goes through the older part of Box, up a fairly steep hill then along the Macmillan Way towards the hamlet of Henley. Once on the top there are magnificent views over the By Brook valley to Colerne. The walk is then mostly flat as we walk from Henley to South Wraxhall across farmland, with wonderful, panoramic views southwards towards Westbury.

Our route swings west just before the entrance to South Wraxhall Manor, reputed to be where tobacco was first smoked in England by its former owner, Sir Walter Long and his friend Sir Walter Raleigh. The manor is currently owned by John Taylor, the bass player of Duran Duran.

Our path then approaches Monkton Farleigh Manor House along the mile long avenue lined with beautiful elm trees. The Manor House was built on the site of a Cluniac Priory founded in 1125. Part of the house dates from the 16th century and carved 12th century fragments from the priory have been built into the walls. During the 18th century remodelling was carried out by the architect John Wood of Bath. In 1873 the estate was purchased by Sir Charles Hobhouse and remains in the ownership of his descendants.

The Monks' Well Conduit House is a small medieval stone structure (rebuilt in 1784) which protected the water supply to the priory and manor house. It has an unusual steeply pitched roof of limestone slabs. Spring water flows along a conduit through the back wall into a stone tank, then via a pipe to the manor which is still supplied from this source.

We bear north east across farmland, again with glorious, far reaching vistas. At Kingsdown we walk the perimeter of the golf course to Totney Firs then begin the descent back into Box. There is an excellent view of Brunel's Middle Hill Box railway tunnel. Once in Box, we walk through alleys to St Thomas a Beckett Church, down to the By Brook and back to the car park.

FRI3 - Corsham Quarry Tramways

5 miles. Easy. 3.5 hrs duration. 14:30 from Leafield Logistics & Tech Services car park, Monks Lane, Corsham, SN13 9PH. GR ST878686. £5.

This circular walk will be of particular interest to those who enjoy learning about local history and industrial archaeology from a local enthusiast, with an added bonus of attractive countryside and some good views from the Ridge. High quality limestone from around Corsham was used for the building of Bath in the early 18th century. With the construction of the Kennet and Avon Canal and the Great Western Railway in the 19th century it became easier and cheaper to transport so-called 'Bath stone' further afield.

To move the stone from the many small quarries around Corsham narrow gauge railways (known as tramways) were built leading to the railway station (sadly closed by Dr Beeching in the 1960s).

The walk will be on footpaths, fields and minor roads, enabling you to explore the remains of the system of Quarry Tramways in the Ridge area of Corsham, taking in some of the former sites for quarrying (or more often mining) the local stone.

SATURDAY 9 JUNE

SAT1 - Cloverleaf via Brown's Folly

19 miles. Challenging. 9 hrs duration. 08:30. Springfield Community Campus. £4. 16+ years.

This circular walk follows a section of the proposed Corsham Cloverleaf Trail which will consist of four loops of challenging walks centred on the town. This walk takes us first to Brown's Folly, a Grade II listed building above the village of Bathford, set amongst flower-rich grasslands covering the old spoil heaps. Wild thyme, yellow rattle and several orchid species can be enjoyed here.

The Brown's Folly Nature Reserve is managed by Avon Wildlife Trust and designated an SSSI (Site of Special Scientific Interest). The disused Bath stone quarries are now home to several species of bat, including the rare Greater Horseshoe bat.

The Folly itself (known locally as the Pepperpot), was commissioned in 1849 by Wade-Brown, a local quarry owner, to promote the quality of his building stone while employing workers during a downturn in the quarrying business.

We then pass through Monkton Farleigh & South Wraxall on our way to the 15th century Great Chalfield Manor, owned by the National Trust and featuring in productions such as Wolf Hall, Poldark and Wives & Daughters. The route continues north to Broughton Gifford and Atworth before returning to Corsham. The walk takes us through beautiful countryside including woods and farmland and has spectacular views towards Colerne and Bath.

Early on there are two fairly steep inclines of short duration between Wadswick and Kingsdown. There may be livestock in some fields and muddy areas. This 9 hour walk is suitable for people who have previously walked at least 15 miles.

Please bring plenty to drink and a packed lunch.

Sponsored by Airbus. www.airbus.com

SAT3 – Wild Flower Walk

4 miles. Moderate. 3 hrs duration. 9:30 from the Quarryman's Arms Pub, Box Hill, SN13 8HN. See below for parking info. £5 includes donation to the charity Plantlife.

Walk with a wild flower enthusiast to identify plants on Box Hill Common and Chapel Plaister Common. These areas of rare limestone (calcareous) grassland are home to specialised communities of plant species, such as orchids, yellow rattle and common broomrape. Discover their significance to our ancestors, folklore, botanical features and curious names.

These grasslands are not ploughed, but cut and managed as hay meadows, allowing perennial wild flowers to thrive, along with the insect and butterfly species that depend upon them. If meadows are not cut then scrub, saplings and eventually woodland would take over in a process known as succession. Sadly 97% of the UK's wild flower meadows have been lost since the 1940's through change of land use and neglect, causing the serious decline of many wild flowers. Wiltshire has important areas of this ecosystem and the Cotswold AONB has 50% of the UK's unimproved limestone grassland – unimproved meaning unfertilised.

Box Hill Common was bought by Box Parish Council from a local farmer following local mass protests and legal battles against proposed development in the early 1970's. Here is the full story <http://www.boxpeopleandplaces.co.uk/box-hill-common.html>

Horses hauling quarried stone were fed hay cut from these meadows. The common is managed by Box Parish Council, helped by local volunteers and the Cotswold Volunteer Wardens. Recently they removed invading scrub which was threatening Horseshoe Vetch. This was done carefully to avoid damaging old ant hills, important for several butterfly species. This is one of the few local sites for Horseshoe Vetch, the sole food of Chalkhill Blue butterfly larvae. The larvae are tended by ants, attracted by sweet secretions from the grubs.

The Common comprises a valuable mosaic of habitats including beech woodland and scrub, offering cover for wildlife. The insects thriving here provide food for several bat species (including the rare Bechstein's Bat) roosting in the disused quarries. Red kites and many other bird species add to the biodiversity.

Bring a hand lens and wildflower book if possible. There may be mud and there is a high stile. The pub car park is ONLY for those lunching after the walk. Street parking is available nearby. Optional group lunch at The Quarryman's Arms is not included in walk fee.

SAT4 - The Biddestone and Slaughterford Loop

8.5 miles. Challenging. 5 hrs duration. 10:00 from Biddestone Green. SN14 7DG
Grid ref ST863735. On street parking. £4. 16+ years.

We leave the picturesque village of Biddestone and its busy duck pond using footpaths across open farmland, along bridleways and quiet lanes.

The walk passes through the village of Slaughterford on the By Brook and onward to Thickwood. The name Slaughterford is thought to combine the old English for sloe bush and ford, or possibly ford of slates – referring to the limestone strata used for stone roof tiles. Mills on the By Brook are of Saxon origin. They milled corn, prepared wool and eventually high quality paper and some mill relics can still be seen here.

After Eastrip the route approaches Euridge. Euridge Manor is owned by the creator of the Jigsaw fashion chain. We can enjoy lovely varied open views across the Weavern Valley before arriving back at Biddestone.

There will be hills, possibly livestock in fields and muddy areas. Please bring a packed lunch.
Sponsored by BCH Camping. www.bchcamping.co.uk

SAT5 – Lacock Round

8.25 miles. Moderate. 5 hrs duration. 10:00 from Springfield Community Campus, £5 includes donation to Lacock History Group.

This walk through open countryside takes us, after tackling many stiles, to the renowned National Trust village of Lacock, for a short tour by Lacock History Group and picnic lunch break.

This quaint village with half-timbered stone cottages and medieval tithe barn has provided a location for many film and TV productions, including Harry Potter, Pride and Prejudice and Downton Abbey. Step back in time and enjoy an unspoiled Cotswold village with a variety of buildings dating from the 15th to the 18th centuries. Bonnets and long swishing skirts are no longer required though!

Lacock Abbey, founded in the 13th century as a nunnery, is also notable as the birthplace of photography when owned by William Fox Talbot. His granddaughter presented the village and Abbey to the National Trust.

We will then continue our walk in silence, noticing the sounds and colours of Corsham Court's beautiful parkland. We will walk without hurrying to the lake, paying attention to our environment and the experience of walking quietly in a group.

No meditation experience is required. We finish at Church House where there will be time for a cup of tea and questions about Mindfulness.

The varied terrain includes meadow, woodland, fields, riverside paths and the Kennet and Avon canal towpath. We climb Bannerdown as well as Little Solsbury and the total ascent is about 600 metres.

The song 'Solsbury Hill' by local musician, Peter Gabriel celebrates this wonderful spot, which takes its name from the Celtic god Sulis – a deity once worshipped at Bath's hot spring. The flat top of Little Solsbury is owned by the National Trust and is the site of an Iron Age fort. The hill is one possible location of the Battle of Mount Badon, where the Celtic Britons (under the legendary King Arthur) defeated the Saxons c.496.

SUN2 – Over the Hills and Far Away

15 miles. Challenging. 7.5 hours duration. 09:00 from Springfield Community Campus. £4. 16+ years.

A wonderful circular walk to Castle Combe, once voted the prettiest village in England. From Corsham we pass through the pretty villages of Slaughterford, Ford and Long Dean. We pick up the Macmillan Way National Trail along the route of the By Brook, which once powered over 20 mills grinding corn and fulling (preparing) wool.

This leads us to the unspoilt Cotswold village of Castle Combe, notable as the location for several well-known films including War Horse. The village is built around the 14th-century Market Cross, erected when the privilege to hold a weekly sheep and wool market was granted. A few yards away are the remains of the Butter Cross, dismantled during the 19th century.

Enjoying spectacular view, we head for Thickwood near the village of Colerne. On the homeward section the walk takes us along the edge of Monk's Wood, an SSSI (Site of Special Scientific Interest) managed by The Woodland Trust to protect its rare wild flowers. There is a sharp descent to the derelict Weavern Farm in its beautiful valley. The trail then rises back to Corsham via Pickwick Lodge Farm.

Briefly we follow the national trail, The Macmillan Way, a long distance footpath from Lincolnshire to Dorset. SUN6 – Charmy Down and the Splendours of St Catherines

10 miles. Challenging. 5 hrs duration. 10:30 from Market Place, Marshfield. GR ST 781737. £4. 16+ years.

A walk from Marshfield to Charmy Down's disused airfield, then back via St Catherine's Valley.

Charmy Down

It is thought Charmy may be derived from 'enchanted' or 'charmed', referring to several round barrows of Early and Middle Bronze Age. The already damaged barrows were destroyed in 1940 during construction of Charmy Down Airfield. Used during the Second World War by the Royal Air Force and later by the United States Army Air Forces, it was mainly a night fighter interceptor airfield. It closed in 1946 though the remains of its control tower, buildings and runway can still be seen. According to local legend the disused airfield is haunted by a wailing ghost still awaiting the return of her pilot fiancé.

Neolithic walkers may have used the nearby ancient Jurassic Way, which crossed the River Avon and passed around Little Solsbury hill. They left pottery shards and flint implements on Charmy Down, which was their likely home. There is evidence that another very ancient track crossed Charmy Down and descended into the valley along the present Hollies (previously Hollows) Lane. High banked lanes worn low over time, known as holloways, may be partly prehistoric.

On the slopes of Charmy down, groups of Celtic fields are clearly visible from a distance. These small square fields surrounded by banks date from the last centuries BC.

St Catherine's Court

Fast forwarding to Tudor England, Henry VIII granted Catherine Court together with “the ewe flock of Charmy Down”, to his tailor John Malt whose daughter, Ethelreda was probably the illegitimate daughter of Henry VIII himself. Eventually Ethelreda married a John Harington, who after her death, re-married. His son, also John Harington, inherited St Catherine's Court. He was a godson of Queen Elizabeth I and probable inventor of the water closet (hence it's American nickname the 'John').

To bring this convoluted story up to date – a current descendant of John Harington is Kit Harington, the actor who played Jon Snow in Game of Thrones.
